DR ASMA NAQI

General Practitioner, Independent Medical Expert
GMC 7473036

Professional profile

A practising General Practitioner with a broad clinical background spanning primary and secondary care, including substantial previous clinical and educational experience in Obstetrics and Gynaecology. This combination brings together frontline general practice, specialist hospital experience, women's health and medical education, alongside experience of working across different healthcare systems and diverse patient populations.

Particular strengths include the assessment of complex and undifferentiated clinical presentations, interpretation of medical records and clinical chronology, and understanding how clinical decisions, treatment pathways and subsequent outcomes relate to one another. Extensive experience in medical education and assessment further supports a structured, analytical approach to evaluating clinical evidence and communicating complex medical matters clearly.

Undertakes independent medico-legal instructions involving clinical assessment, records-based opinions, injury evaluation, functional impact, recovery and prognosis. Reports are grounded in the available evidence, with balanced clinical reasoning, clear recognition of evidential limitations and opinions confined to areas of relevant professional expertise.

Medico-legal training and experience

Bond Solon - Report Writing for Expert Witnesses.

Independent medical opinions and expert reports in civil, criminal and family matters, within the scope of General Practice expertise.

Experience in preparing instructed medico-legal reports, preliminary medical opinions, medical records reviews and clinical chronologies.

Assessment of personal injury, medical conditions, treatment, functional consequences, recovery and prognosis.

Evaluation of clinical evidence, including differing accounts, medical uncertainty and limitations of available records.

Professional qualifications and experience

MRCGP, MMEd, MRCOG, MBBS

Currently practising as a salaried GP in the UK.

Previous clinical and educational roles in UK Obstetrics and Gynaecology, with earlier international medical experience.

Extensive involvement in clinical teaching, assessment and medical education.

Publications and academic contributions

Contributions to published medical textbooks, international conference presentations and professional medico-legal literature, including the Expert Witness Journal.

Selected publications and academic contributions are available on the professional profile.

Availability

Remote medical records review and reporting across England and Wales.

Clinical assessments by arrangement.

Full professional CV, terms of engagement and fee schedule available to verified instructing parties on request.